

www.better-management.org provides invaluable insights that will help you understand and deliver better organizational performance.

Better-Management Newsletter 11 October 2015

The future collapse bandwagon / US - more bullying

The future collapse bandwagon

Hmm, I am not sure that the opinion of bankers means that much...but they were pissed that they chose to ignore all the signs before the 2008 GFC....so they may be trying to get ahead of the curve...after all it is mostly their doing...

<http://theeconomiccollapseblog.com/archives/why-are-the-imf-the-un-the-bis-and-citibank-all-warning-that-an-economic-crisis-could-be-imminent>

Or this...

<http://transitionvoice.com/2015/10/bubbles-and-backlashes/>

And China gets on the bandwagon

<http://www.bloomberg.com/news/articles/2015-10-08/if-you-thought-china-s-equity-bubble-was-scary-check-out-bonds>

Growth, what growth?

<http://www.telegraph.co.uk/finance/economics/11923522/Beware-a-third-storm-brewing-for-the-global-economy-IMF-warns.html>

I agree that GD1 had probably started in 2008, because there has been no effective recovery when you take debt build and zero interest rates into account...

<http://www.internationalman.com/articles/the-deep-state>

US - more bullying

Since we saw the state sponsored tactics of global corporate – assisted by the US Department of State, CIA etc – the money laundering has circled the world. Finally the USA is tightening the net as they seek a wider (and global) tax base...

<http://www.bloomberg.com/news/articles/2015-10-09/swiss-bank-secrets-lead-u-s-to-tax-cases-in-singapore-israel>

And of course, they fine foreigners far more than the US locals – as seen by the differential between Exxon Valdez and BP.

But the USA is targeting extra tax revenues of USD250 billion per year from US multinationals according to FT.