Here's Why the Government Response to COVID Should Trouble You

by Chris MacIntosh

I COME FROM A LAND DOWN UNDER ...where rights are ripped asunder.

Actually, it's rather ironic that the catchy song from which I took the above headline, "The Land Down Under," is written and sung by the band "Men at Work".

Why is that ironic? Because right now men in Australia are decidedly NOT at work. They are instead on the sofa, attached to the WiFi, their rights stripped from them under the ridiculous guise of a pandemic, unless, of course, they're deemed by some pointy-shoe beaurocrat as "essential."

The Great Reset barrels ahead in Australia at a blistering pace. All hail the albino snail that lost his shell.

The damage already done is incalculable, and yet to come is much, much more because we have of course been promised much more. All the while the sheeple sleep, sound in the belief their leaders are protecting them and keeping them safe.

Some have said that the Australian government has lost the plot. No, they haven't. Suggesting that provides a plausibility to their actions. There is none. It is not possible to implement such far reaching, damaging rules and regulations by merely being incompetent, and certainly not for such a length of time, where the evidence piles high that highlight the innefectiveness of the experimental gene therapies, constantly changing protocols and mandates (no mask, one mask, two masks, etc.), and control groups such as Sweden, which instead of being used as a proof of evidence are chastised and ignored, or where the country sporting the greatest deaths per capita is simultaneously the country most vaccinated: Israel.

No, only an idiot would look at all of this and conclude that it is mere incompetence. Only an idiot would look at this and conclude that it is being done in good faith.

No this is planned. It is, folks, "the great reset" that the global elites scumbags drool over.

Davos man has been hard at work. And you may say, "Well, they have no real power. I mean, they don't pass these laws." True. They don't need to. Instead, like a mob boss who never brings out the baseball bat to beat the victim, relying instead on his henchman, today it is gutless invertebrates that out of sheer cowardice follow them.

Corporates, CEOs, governors, local elected officials. And, of course, there is the media — the poisoned chalice that never stops giving. Driving the hysteria, and boy has it worked. More clicks, more eyeballs. Then, of course, there is the fact that the revenue model for media has flipped to one of advertising. And so it is that the advertisers pull the strings.

For context, Bill Gates, via various structures, owns 113 media outlets.

And don't get me started on the "fact checkers." These are the folks telling Nobel Laureate Luc Montagnier (whose field of expertise is virology) to stand down and stop spreading "misinformation." The same folks telling us that the inventor of mRNA technology Dr. Robert Malone doesn't know what he's talking about when he yells from the rooftops that we're in the process of committing a slow motion global genocide.

It is surreal. I understand that, but just because it's surreal doesn't mean it's not happening.

We look at evidence, such as this.

But when we look around us the outcomes of this evidence are nowhere to be found. Everyone dutifully scans into shops, dons a useless, dirty mask ensuring they breathe their own carbon dioxide back into their body along with the chemicals from the mask.

Here is the issue, folks, and it's dead bloody serious. This is a colossal deception based on fraud and lies. The governments of Australia, New Zealand, the US, Canada, all those in the European Union, and the UK have borrowed sums of money that will never ever be paid back.

A father and his daughter in a park. Their crime? Unmasked.

Sadly, one can see exactly where this is all headed. Most everyone knows exactly what Auschwitz and the numerous "facilities" like it were. We also know that many of the victims actually willingly went to these camps. Heck, some paid the rail fare to get there, such was the power of the propaganda.

And yet it is hard to imagine anything like this happening again, which is, of course, why it happens. It is why history repeats itself.

When you are confronted with something so dark, so sinister, so dystopian that it makes you feel physically ill, and at the same time nobody around you seems to think it an issue it is only normal to think to yourself... well, it must be me that is mad. But you are not mad. You are the rational one. Just because you are in the minority does not mean you are wrong. It just means that you are in the minority.

Here is the new Alice Springs "quarantine" facility.

Not at all like, you know, a prison. And here are the rules.

Face masks, physical distancing and room

Chief Health Officer Direction 55 sets out what a person must do when in quarantine at the Centre for National Resilience and at Alice Springs Quarantine Facility. This direction is law-every person in quarantine must do what the Direction says. If a person does not follow the Direction, the Northern Territory Police may issue an Infringement Notice with a financial penalty.

This Direction works to prevent transmission of COVID-19 between residents in quarantine thereby keeping all residents, all staff and our community safe. If COVID-19 is spread between residents because people do not following this Direction, affected residents will be required to remain in quarantine beyond 14 days.

A person in quarantine must;

- stay in the person's allocated room, including on any veranda space allocated to the room, unless permitted by an authorised officer; and
- when not in their room, or on their veranda, residents must take all reasonable measures to stay at least 1.5 metres away from any other person in the quarantine facility, except for the person's spouse, de facto partner, child or parent; and
- wear a face mask when outside their room unless an authorised officer permits the person to remove the face mask; and
- comply with any directions given by an authorised officer to avoid people congregating in a quarantine zone; and
- must not leave the quarantine zone in which the person's allocated room is located unless the person is escorted by an authorised officer, except in an emergency.

You are not able to share or hand over physical objects to residents who are not your family members. COVID-19 lives on surfaces so you must not give items, toys, food, activities, or play games like cards with people outside your family.

Quarantine facility staff will remind you about wearing your mask, staying on your veranda and physically distancing through information in your resident booklet, by sending you sms reminder texts and verbally in person if we see you are not following the Direction.

If you're looking at this progression of events and not alarmed, you have a screw loose. That it has as much to do with "public health" as a donkey has to do with cryptography should be obvious to all.

So what comes next? Asset seizure.

Editor's Note: Disturbing economic, political, and social trends are already in motion and now accelerating at breathtaking speed. Most troubling of all, they cannot be stopped.

The risks that lie ahead are too big and dangerous to ignore.

That's why legendary investor Doug Casey and contrarian hedge fund manager Chris Macintosh just released the most critical video on these trends.

It reveals what to expect in the months ahead and what they're doing right now for prudence and profits.
