

NZ PM plans apartheid, vaxxed and not vaxxed

New Zealand Prime Minister proudly admits she helped create two classes of people, while holding human rights hostage

(Natural News) A journalist with the New Zealand Herald recently confronted Prime Minister Jacinda Ardern on the government's plan to hold the people's freedoms hostage by punishing the "unvaccinated" and rewarding the vaccine-compliant. New Zealand has created a two-tiered society under Ardern's watch – a society where the "unvaccinated" are barred from public life, a society where the vaccine-compliant are granted special privileges. "That is what it is," Arden smirked, confirming that non-vaccinated citizens have fewer rights.

The New Zealand Prime Minister just announced the government's new "traffic-light system" which creates a society of slaves, who are subjugated by endless medical tyranny. She even smiled about creating two classes of people, in a system that gives "vaccinated" people more rights, while segregating the "unvaxxed."

New Zealand setting up "traffic-light system" to punish and exclude the unvaccinated

The government of New Zealand is setting up a "traffic-light system" to facilitate their long-awaited "reopening." As soon as 90 percent of all people are vaccinated in compliance with their regional district health board, the country will begin loosening restrictions on the population. Once this occurs, the country enters the "red" light stage of the plan. Under this stage of population control, businesses can open up, but are only allowed to serve the "fully vaccinated." The "unvaccinated," on the other hand, will not be allowed to enter restaurants, bars, gyms or other "close contact" venues.

Arden said "many of the freedoms others enjoy will be out of reach" for the unvaccinated. "If you want summer [...] get vaccinated." If you don't, "there will be everyday things you will miss out on," she explained. Arden said she is justified in doing this, because the unvaccinated put the vaccinated at risk. If the vaccines worked, then the vaccinated wouldn't need to worry about anyone's vaccine status, let alone worry about getting more booster shots.

The red-light phase allows for local lockdowns, increased contact tracing and continuous persecution of the unvaccinated. During the orange light phase of the plan, masks mandates will be put in place for flights, public transport, in taxis, retail and all other public venues. The government gets to decide which phase the population must abide by, and the government can alternate between phases as often and as long they wish.

Vaccine certificates to be made into a permanent form of segregation and population control

During New Zealand's green light phase of their "traffic-light system," vaccine certificates will be implemented across the entire public and private sector to create a permanent, two-tiered society. Businesses, including retail and hospitality, will be required to check people's vaccination status. Businesses that do not comply with this Orwellian, "show me your papers” system will be severely restricted and ultimately forced to shut down permanently. These non-compliant businesses will have to operate with strict limits on capacity and space. Churches and other places of worship will only be allowed to host one hundred people maximum, and attendees will be required to worship in separate spaces, with no physical contact allowed.

During the green light phase, masks are still mandatory for public transit. The plan legally empowers event coordinators and community organizers to discriminate against anyone they want, by implementing vaccination requirement for entry. This will create a permanent system of control. At this stage, the government can impose any medical intervention they want, while using vaccine certificates as a form of mass surveillance to violate people’s medical privacy and segregate them at will.

Prime Minister Arden said the certificates are a form of “confidence” that help vaccinated people feel safe in public places. Arden is practically saying that no one has an immune system capable of making its own antibodies – that naturally-acquired immunity doesn’t exist. Even more nonsensical, she is saying that the vaccine science doesn’t work in the individual unless everyone is injected. The EVIL that she perpetuates is rooted in hysteria, not rational thought. The EVIL that she defends is nothing more than government-enforced terror and psychological manipulation masquerading as “safety.”
